Pixelplanet pdfeditor 1.0.0.34 (x86). Serial Number. For Any Pdf. Edit Online.3, fase software.rs metade, sdhir-c.rar.Q: Rails.select throws error even with multiple conditions I'm trying to use Rails'.select method to grab a list of comments. I want the list of comments sorted in descending order by their votes. In my controller I can call the query like so: @posts = Post.select("posts.*, COUNT(comments.id) AS votes").joins(:comments).order("comments.votes DESC") This query runs fine. It returns a list of posts, sorted by the votes column from greatest to least. I then want to iterate over the returned objects and pull out the comments for each post. So I do this in my view: I'm getting an error for the post.comments.each line. I get the error: undefined method 'comments' for # If I put puts statement in the loop, it shows the object has the comments method but it doesn't work. Here's what it shows for one of the posts: pry(#)> post.comments
NoMethodError: undefined method `comments' for # from
